RE: Letter and Document Submittal for the Public Record

Dear _____,

It is my goal to inform individuals and elected representatives of Sustainable Development Agenda 21. Most are not informed as to the real nature, purpose and origin of Sustainable policy.

Are you aware of the restructuring of the American government being carried out by elected local officials adopting Agenda 21 policies? Your city pays membership dues to the International Council for Local Environmental Initiatives, also known as ICLEI: Local Governments for Sustainability. ICLEI is a non-government organization (NGO) which means it is accredited by the United Nations for purposes of implementing 'global to local' Agenda 21 policies.

Have you as an elected official considered any of the following?:

Do you think that economic development and environmental programs that give special benefits (e.g., tax incentives or grants to private businesses or entities) is a proper function of government?

Do you think that government agencies and non-profit organizations and partnering "smart growth" developers should receive public subsidy in order to create high density housing?

Do you believe that non-elected boards should control resource policy on a "regional" basis, e.g., air, water, transportation, coastal zones, mountain zones and watersheds?

If you answered yes to any of the above questions you are working toward regionalism – the obliteration of political boundaries – A transformational change designed to destroy the American experience and the recognition of every individual's unalienable rights.

The above policies and programs transform our representative government into regional, non-elected boards. This allows you to shirk your responsibilities for the limited authority that the public expects you to exercise as an elected official. Regionalism creates a wrongful expansion of the scope of government power. Regionalism is the base ingredient of a soviet system that facilitates both communism and fascism. Limited and representative government is the basis of a free and just society.

Today I am enclosing a copy of the Understanding Sustainable Development - Agenda 21 pamphlet for the public record along with this correspondence. Please take time to review the information and then research it yourself.

Do not adopt or implement Sustainable policies. Be wary of and disassociate from the goals of internationalist organizations like ICLEI which exist to further the globalist Action Plan called Agenda 21.

Sincerely,

Signature
