

Attacking the Root:

- How does Agenda 21 infect us locally? Why it is important to understand how that happens.
- How to recognize the patterns and tenants of Agenda 21.
- What it is you can do?

This is a list of modern day issues that beg the question; 'Do we really live in a free society?'

Economic factors:

- Can we undue the phony fiat monetary system and begin to operate with a system of honest money?
- Are we free to enter into free enterprise?
- Are we being subsumed by globalist multinational corporate interests?

Environmental entanglements:

- Has the environmental movement resulted in destruction of the unalienable right to the use and enjoyment of property?
- Has the environmental movement resulted in an increasing loss of access to Wildlands and widening prohibitions on resource extractions?
- Does the environmental movement have an anti-population, pro-population reduction thrust?

Social and judicial issues:

- Is our social order being corralled and reshaped into a collectivist society?
- Is our system of justice being transformed from equal justice to social justice?
- Is private property being abolished?

The Globalist invasion is happening right under our nose. Right here in Santa Cruz County!

Let's examine aspects of the 'Local Action' Plan:

ICLEI

This is the most vulnerable globalist organization operating in America today.

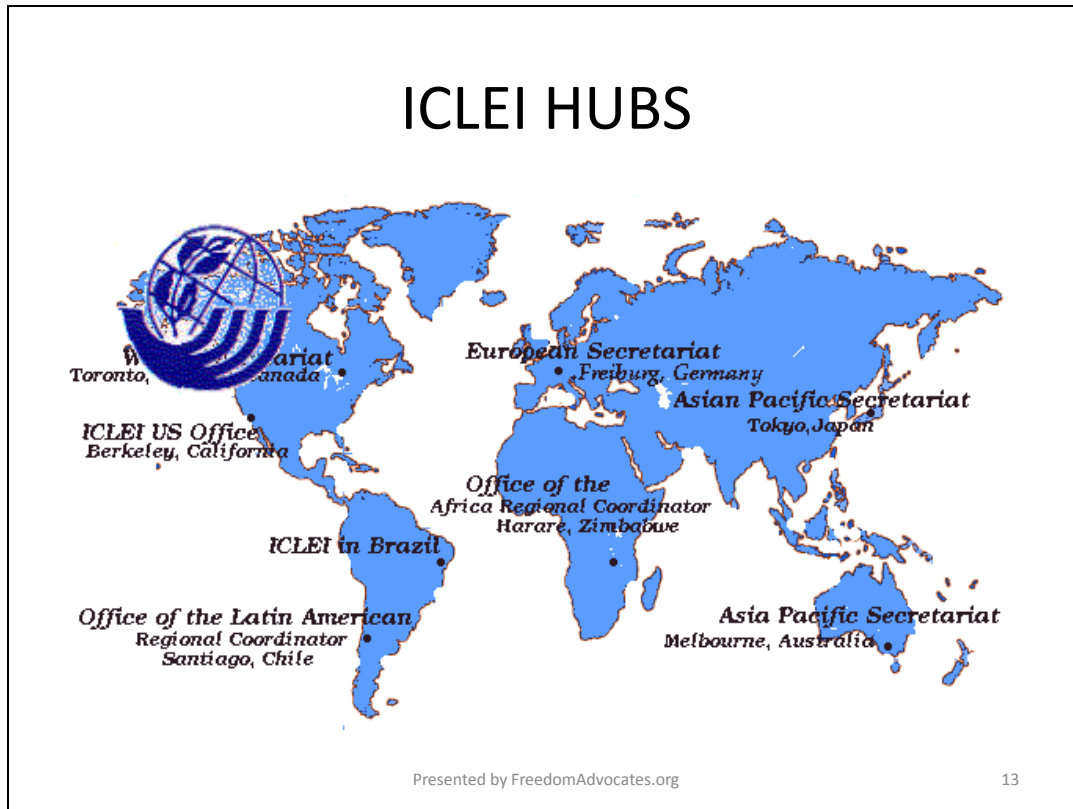

The full name is the “International Council for Local Environmental Initiatives”. It is also called “Local Governments for Sustainability”.

ICLEI is an important NGO that:

- Closely ties policy to man-made Global Warming and climate change.
- Has formed an international Congress filled with our city and county representatives. This Congress acts as a shadow World Government.
- Directs Planning and other local agencies with statutory and regulatory provisions that implement Sustainable policy locally.

Local tax funds pay the contract fee. Globalist policy-making is fully invaded upon ICLEI’s arrival. Santa Cruz was one of the first but now it is not alone. 600 cities, including Bloomberg led New York City, from all across the nation, have ICLEI contracts. Local governments have been hijacked by globalist operatives.

Each ICLEI city's influence is expanded as ICLEI then automatically steers Regional Air, and Water Boards, and many other “regional” transformational governance apparatus.

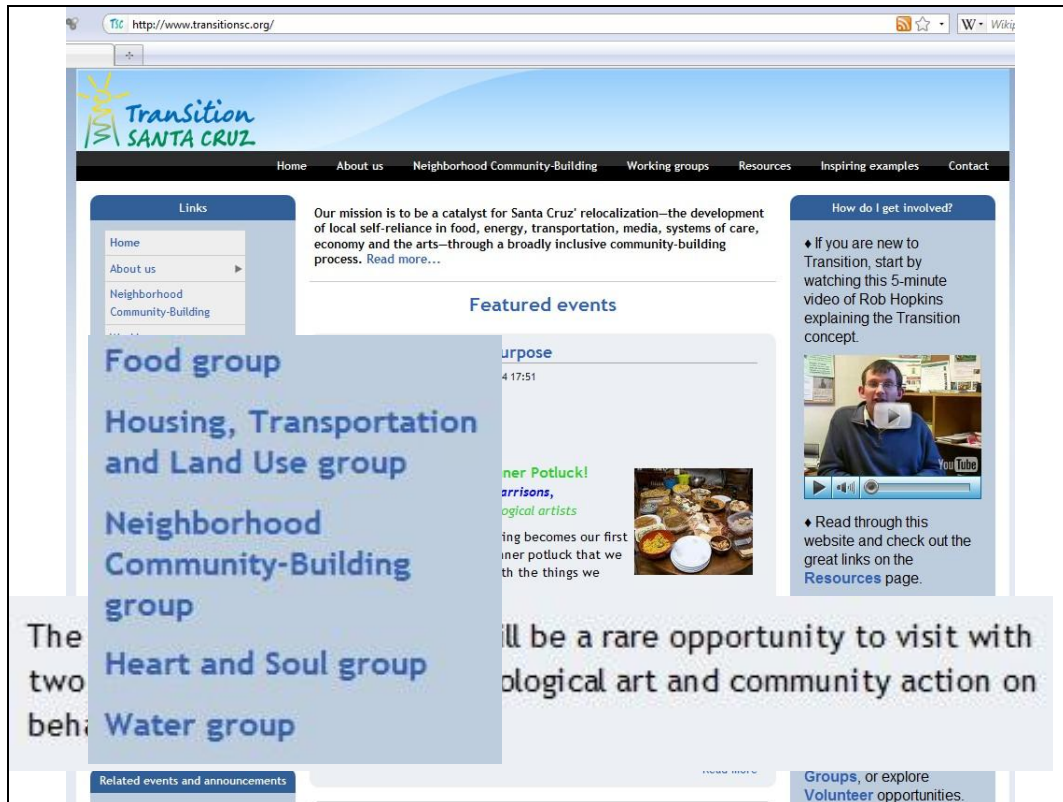

ICLEI has three contracts in this county and with another 175 other cities or counties in California. Here, ICLEI has long high standing relationships with both the city and county governments of Santa Cruz. ICLEI has a new and more junior member, the city of Watsonville.

Article 1 Section 10 prohibitions: “No state shall enter into any Treaty, Alliance or Confederation”. Neither may a city. Ask: Is contracting with ICLEI treasonous? I think so. In any event, contracts with ICLEI guarantee implementation of globalist political and economic policy. Drive city alliances with ICLEI out of Santa Cruz and out of all of America.

Where’s the Sheriff?

Residents in Spokane, Washington and various cities in the Colorado plains are taking on their city’s contract and contact with ICLEI. We are tracking this information at FreedomAdvocates.org.

Now, let's turn directly to:

Does anyone smell collectivism?

Transition Santa Cruz is lead by Ryan Coonerty, councilman and sometimes mayor. Transition Towns are headquartered in Great Britain. What I want to do is help make Santa Cruzan's aware of the local infiltration of globalist policy and help people understand how globalist political-economic policy is instituted locally so that we can escape its clutches.

A massive fifth column has been established right here in Santa Cruz County. A key to understanding Transition Towns is recognizing that the organization is founded and operated out of Great Britain.

Our sources in Great Britain inform us that Transition Towns are a creation of the British Fabian Socialist Society. One point in that regard: The London School of Economics is Fabian based. The founders of the school also were founders of the Fabian Society. Ryan Coonerty has a Masters degree from the London School of Economics. This all gives real meaning to the term “British Invasion”.

So much of the globalist invasion at the local level relies on the man-made global warming fraud. The unraveling of this masquerade has not yet hit the local scene. Transition Towns and ICLEI are vulnerable if citizens react soon enough. Now is the time.

Note how Santa Cruz city has appointed a “Global Warming Czar”. Realization of the fraud of man-made global warming scam has become the thrust of scientific opinion.

The main content area features a list of bullet points:

- building bridges to local government
- connecting with other transition initiatives
- forming groups to look at all the key areas of life (food, energy, transport, health, heart & soul, economics & livelihoods, etc)
- kicking off projects aimed at building people's understanding of resilience and carbon issues and community engagement
- eventually launching a community defined, community implemented "Energy Descent Action Plan" over a 15 to 20 year timescale

Below the bullet points, the text reads:

This results in a coordinated range of projects across all these areas of life that strives to rebuild the resilience we've lost as a result of cheap oil and reduce the community's carbon emissions drastically.

The community also recognises two crucial points:

- that we used immense amounts of creativity, ingenuity and

Below this, a large, bolded text block states:

■ if we collectively plan and act early enough there's every likelihood that we can create a way of living that's significantly more connected, more vibrant and more in touch with our environment than the oil-addicted treadmill that we find ourselves on today.

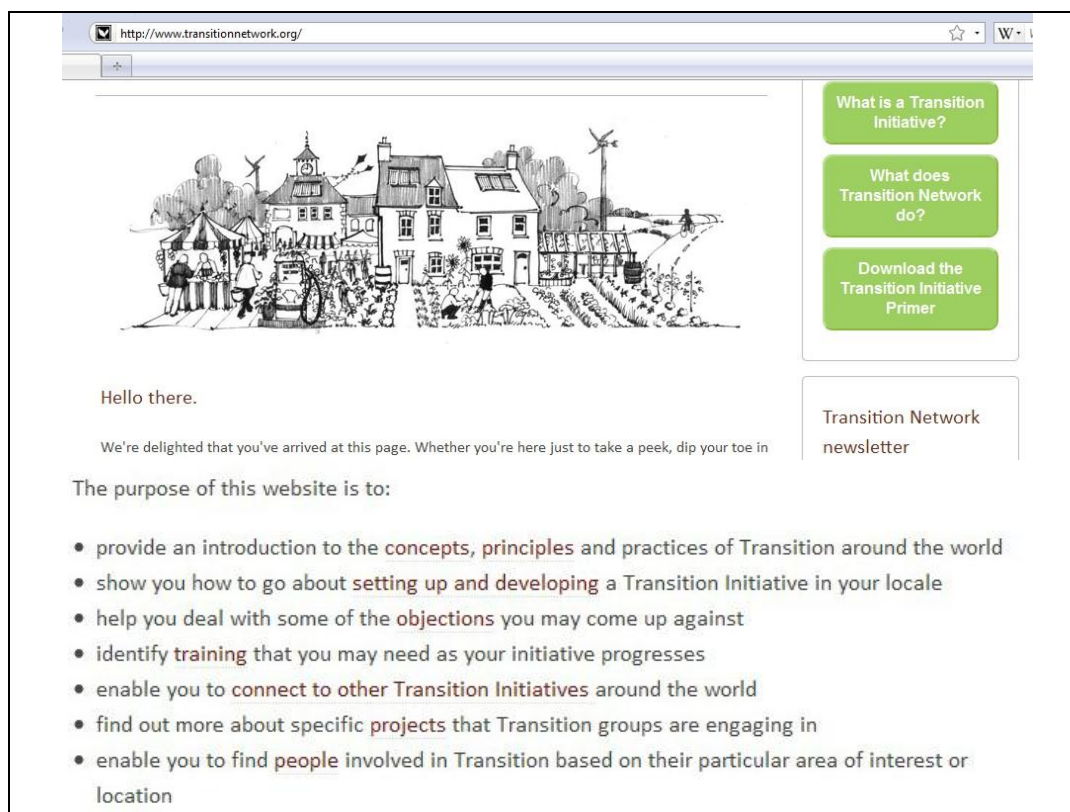

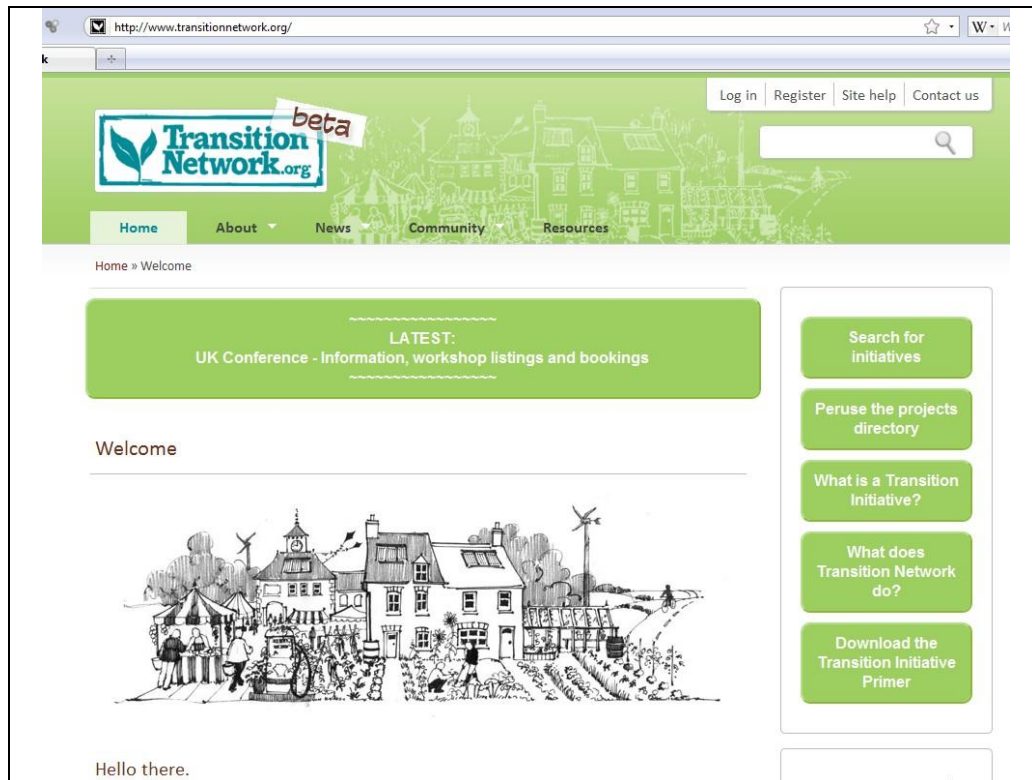

Below this, the text reads:

Final point

Just to weave the climate change and peak oil situations together...

- Climate change makes this carbon reduction transition essential
- Peak oil makes it inevitable
- Transition initiatives make it feasible, viable and attractive (as far we can tell so far...)

Big surprise! Santa Cruz politics intends to recreate your life!

bringing the community to a sufficiently resilient and low CO2-emitting state. A very small handful of Transition Initiatives have embarked on this phase.

Fourth, they begin implementing the EDAP, sharing successes and failures with other Transition Initiatives that are travelling the same path. As of March 2010, no initiative has embarked on this phase.

There's a more detailed explanation here. And just so you don't think that we have all the answers...

Cheerful disclaimer!

Just in case you were under the impression that Transition is a process defined by people who have all the answers, you need to be aware of a key fact.

We truly don't know if this will work. Transition is a social experiment on a massive scale.

What we are convinced of is this:

- if we wait for the governments, it'll be too little, too late
- if we act as individuals, it'll be too little
- but if we act as communities, it might just be enough, just in time.

Everything that you read on this site is the result of real work undertaken in the real world with community engagement at its heart. There's not an ivory tower in sight, no professors in musty oak-panelled studies churning out erudite papers, no slavish adherence to a model carved in stone.

This site, just like the transition model, is brought to you by people who are actively engaged in transition in a community. People who are learning by doing - and learning all the time. People who understand that we can't sit back and wait for someone else to do the work. People like you, perhaps...

New Design Promises New Life for Aptos Village

Updated Blueprint Integrates Higher Density Commercial and Residential Development

By Aldwin Fajardo

Since 1979, developers have been eying renovating the turn-of-the-century village at the heart of Aptos. Now home to about eight acres of undeveloped property, a 130-year-old hotel and a handful of historic structures, Aptos Village has been calendared for a major facelift.

During the past three decades, after countless public meetings, the latest on Mar. 18, nothing much has

Project manager Ricardo de la Cruz, of Barry Swenson Developer, calls the portion of the Aptos Village that will emerge north of the Bayview Hotel a masterplanned community.

During the past three decades, after countless public meetings, the latest on Mar. 18, nothing much has

Project manager Ricardo de la Cruz, of Barry Swenson Developer, calls the portion of the Aptos Village that will emerge north of the Bayview Hotel a masterplanned community.

However, this year, Supervisor Ellen Pirie is optimistic however that Aptos is finally getting the makeover it was promised almost 30 years ago. She said there are less property owners involved this time around in developing a unified plan, eliminating the lengthy process of getting everybody together to agree on the project, particularly the question of who will pay for public Planned Communities may look nice. But what is behind them? Planned communities are Smart Growth. The local planning department is eager to pronounce Santa Cruz a Smart Growth town. What that means is that we are to live in tightly controlled environments, with high density, without autos and subject to “smart” system monitoring.

Smart Growth is financed in large part with federal subsidies. Santa Cruz is recipient of 300 million federal dollars for use in Smart Growth Development. The County coordinated the assemblage of Aptos Village properties.

This coordination put essentially the whole village into the hands of Barry Swenson, Builders. Swenson is set to receive $80,000 of subsidy for each “Affordable” 800 square foot apartment the Company builds. Other housing developers have similar arrangements with the county, including so-called non-profit housing developers. Such is a prototype example of a public private partnership.

Another example of public funding through “Affordable” housing programs of private development is the Felton Faire in Felton. There are many such arrangements in Santa Cruz County. This is how development works in this County.

There are very many organizations in town that tie policy to the globalist Agenda. Santa Cruz has been operated as a prototype. That prototype comes with financial muscle as the affordable housing program illustrates.

Ecology Action is another example of how public private partnership builds its Action force though the use of “non-profit” corporations.

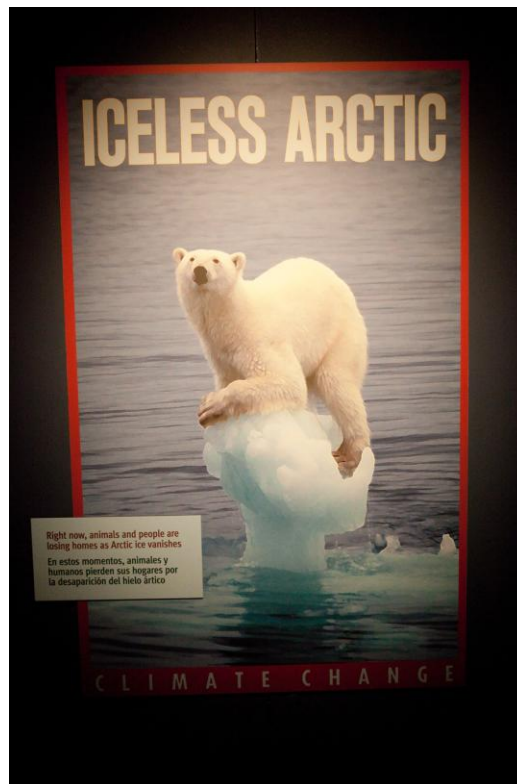

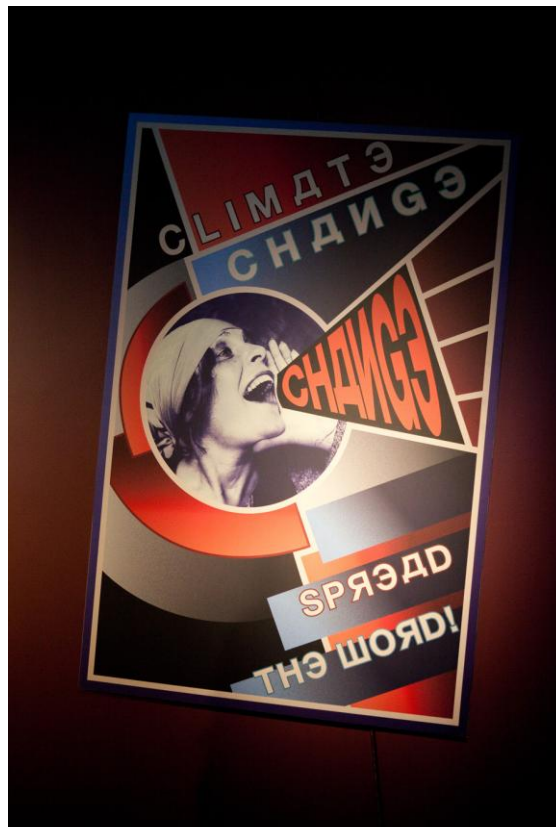

This is a building that will house the Santa Cruz Community Foundation. Community Foundations along with major family and corporate foundations are the financial underpinnings of Agenda 21. This new building is across the street from Safeway in Aptos. The land use program for the County often is facilitated through land use and or easement acquisition entered into by the Santa Cruz Community Foundation. Land all over the county is being acquired by the Foundation and other agents of the new, post private property, social system.

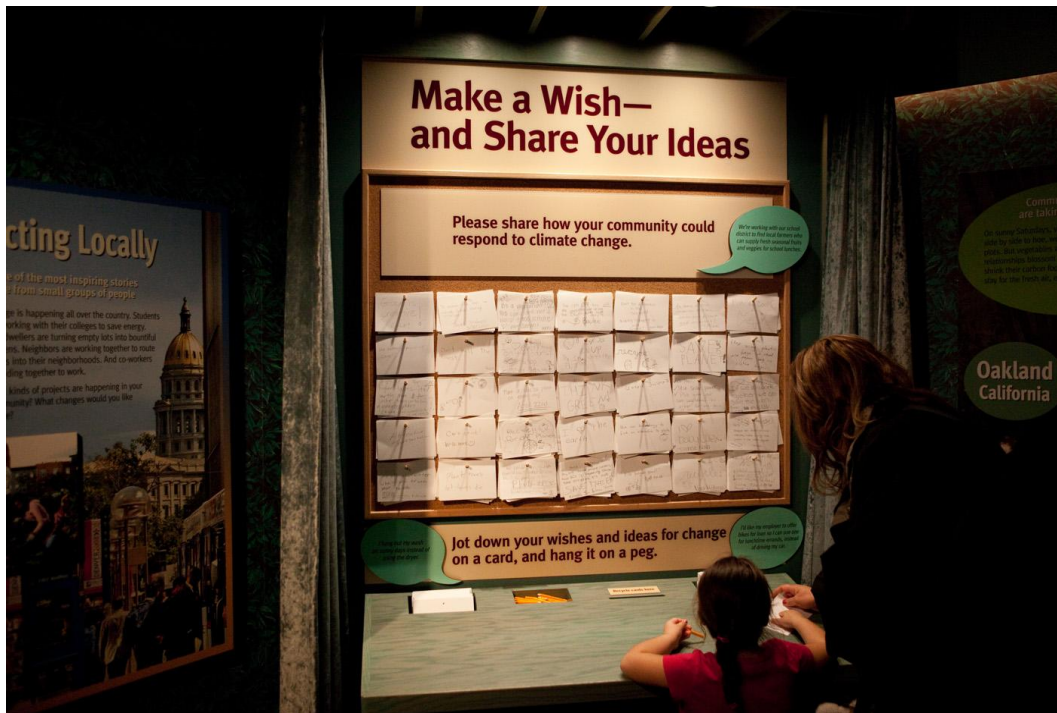

Much more is planned. Be aware. Recognize the big picture.

In referencing Foundations and their commitment to Agenda 21 policies, there are few with the financial clout and none with the degree local input than Packard Foundation. This could be the subject of a full night's seminar. Instead let me show you some posters hanging at Packard's Monterey Bay Aquarium.

This display is designed to affect children – A continuation of the indoctrination occurring in school.

A child is then ushered to the 'Make a Wish' table to “prove” their new world usefulness.

There are very many organizations locally that promote globalism – Sustainable Development. Some of them include Action Pajaro Valley, Valley Women's Club, Santa Cruz Action Network, Santa Cruz Farm Bureau, Local Chambers of Commerce and others.

Illustration of how democracy works is this:

Voters overwhelmingly rejected the coastal train scheme in 2004. This year, the regional unelected transportation authority, of its own volition, set about to purchase the rail line – critical to the establishment of a Smart Growth community. As James Madison said, "Democracy is as short lived as it is violent in its death."

Sustainable Development pretends to have something for everybody. It does have something in mind for humanity. Sustainable Development is an economic system of public private partnership. Public private partnership is the economic foundation for establishing the slave society living under the principles mandated by the policies of world governance.

Mussolini called this same economic system Corporatism and the world learned it as economic fascism.

What happens if people do nothing?

America becomes the land of the collected and home of the enslaved.

What can you do?

Organize.

Expose ICLEI – Traitorous? Inform and motivate residents in local cities named earlier to take on their city fathers. Counter-action to ICLEI is, I believe, the 21st century ‘shot to be heard round the world’.

Wouldn’t it be ironic if Santa Cruz helped lead the restoration of America? Other cities have started that process. Expose ICLEI! Visit FreedomAdvocates.Org to study: the ICLEI Primer, The Consensus Process and Agenda 21.

The ICLEI Primer now includes city Charter amendments and a sample city ordinance ridding your town of its ICLEI contract. You can find a lot valuable information at our home page. There is a very deep reservoir of information, documentation and tools needed to fight for America's survival. The fight begins with informing more people about the nature of the battle and what is at stake. Let FreedomAdvocates.org help you in that process.

People in the mountains need to organize to expose the connection between globalism and the Wildlands network that directs land use policy in our forests. Over time, we must cause the globalist concept of the Wildlands Network to be abandoned – consider the alternative.

Santa Cruz urgently requires a new political direction with new political majorities. And you need them soon! To win we must act at the local level. Think nationally, act locally.

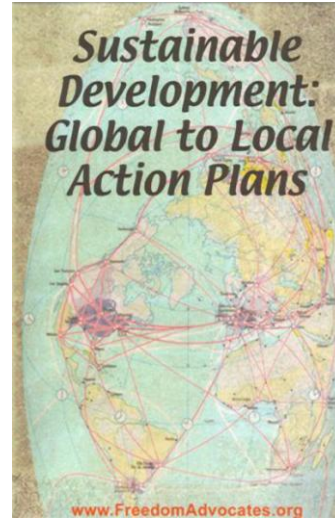

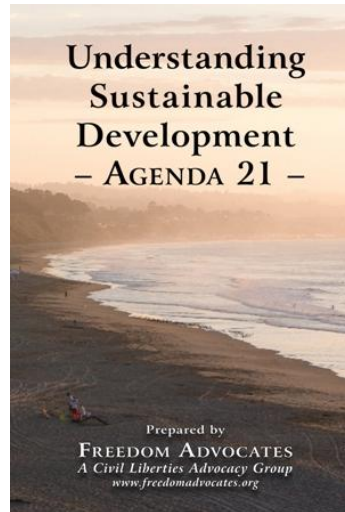

Another thing you can do is to recognize and neuter local sovietization.

How to fight the Soviet onslaught: Attend the meetings held by the kinds of organizations that I am discussing this afternoon. If you attend, learn how to break the planned consensus meetings operated through “facilitation” with predetermined outcomes. This is a simple study and very effective technique. Remember this is a first line of defense. When successful, the door opens for counter attacks by way of exposing the globalist transformation.

Information is available at FreedomAdvocates.org regarding how a coordinated effort, undertaken by a few people, can break the local manufactured “consensus” that serves globalist objectives.

The modern war is between Globalism vs. America.

Let me show an illustration that captures the contrast between America and Globalism:

It is important that you prepare yourself for the ensuing onslaught. My advice for ordinary people, understanding that there can always be exceptions, is:

- Have barter
- Have access to food, grow it, store it or become part of an informed food collective
- Have personal defense
- Get out of debt if you can

And Join - in the defense of America!

Conclusion

The old expression and bumper sticker, “Think Global Act Local” can now take a meaning. This scheme has been in the works longer than any of us have been alive.

Tony Blair is a former chairman of the British Fabian Society. George Bernard Shaw, a founding British Fabian Socialist said “We will crawl like turtles for as long as it takes. When we see the finish line we will create a buzzing, whirling, confusion as we make our dash through the clearing as we get to the other side.” Ladies and Gentlemen, that whirling blast to the finish line is what has begun to happen now.

There is welcome news gathering from within. The globalists are stumbling all over themselves, the Global Warming scam is crumbling, the fiscal and monetary situations are becoming understood more broadly and the Sustainable pattern advancing globalism is becoming evident to many people.

For that welcome news to serve the interests of a free society, those who seek freedom must understand what we are fighting against, if we are to defeat the advance of tyranny. Understand Sustainable Development!

We must also know what we are fighting for. Good Neighbors defending each other coupled with a renewing dose of equal justice are just what America needs.

Only by winning the war undertaken by the globalist machinery, brought against the independence of this country and the independence of the individual, can we earn a second coming of America, the land of the brave and home of the free.

Thank you and may God Bless America.
